Medical Director Receives NJHA 2018 Healthcare Professional of the Year Award

Broadway House for Continuing Care's Medical Director, Rodolfo Munera, MD, was presented with the NJ Hospital Association's prestigious Healthcare Professional of the Year Award at their 99th Annual Meeting in Princeton which kicked off their centennial year. The annual awards program honors individuals and organizations for their commitment to the state's healthcare system and the patients and communities they serve.

Broadway House is NJ's only specialized care facility for people living with HIV/AIDS. Since 2001, Dr. Munera has lead the staff of experienced, knowledgeable and compassionate HIV/AIDS physicians and nurses. He is responsible for resident care policies and medical care, administrative duties, standards and criteria for care performance, discharge planning, liaison with families and residents, serving on multiple committees and other important care functions. Ask anyone at Broadway House and they will agree that Dr. Munera is "compassionate, consistent and dedicated." "He is part of the critical clinical and administrative team that has prepared Broadway House to meet the increased and changing demands for services in the future," says James Gonzalez, President/CEO.

Dr. Munera has, and will continue to, go beyond his normal duties in order to best serve Broadway House residents. He is truly a healthcare professional whose performance is seen as exemplary by peers and patients and is most deserving of this award.
